

Ireland's top spa

Third time lucky was most definitely the case for the Inchydoney Island Lodge and Spa in Cork. By staff reporter - 15/10/07

The luxurious resort won Ireland's top Spa Resort, for the third year in a row, at the World Travel Awards, so if you're thinking of taking a spa break - this is an extremely safe bet.

The hotel is ten years old this year, and it is also the only spa to have a place in the prestigious Conde Nast Readers Travel Awards, as one of the Top 15 Destination Spas in the world.

The ceremony took place in Newcastle, England. Proud owner, Des O'Dowd, said: "We started as one of the first spas in Ireland and to be voted the best in the country three times, and to be the only Irish spa named among the world's best by Conde Nast readers proves to us that we are still leading the pack."

Set overlooking two stunning beaches with endless views of the ocean, Inchydoney Island Lodge and Spa is long renowned as Ireland's most exclusive and tranquil retreat. The Lodge and Spa combines a stunning location, luxurious accommodation, unique seawater therapies and stunning dining to create a special getaway.
