Athenaeum InterContinental Athens wins top industry award

The Athenaeum InterContinental Athens has been awarded Greece's Leading Business Hotel for 2007 at the 14th World Travel Awards, in London. The World Travel Awards were established in 1993 to acknowledge, reward and celebrate the enormous achievements to be found in all sectors of the global travel industry. In the years since, dedicated travel professionals and their clients have come to regard the World Travel Awards as the best endorsement that any travel product could receive.

Travel agents in more than 200 countries around the world cast the votes. Hundreds and thousands of votes each year are registered online at the official World Travel Awards website, with most of the leading travel Internet sites offering additional online voting facilities.

"Winning a prestigious award from the World Travel Awards for a third consecutive year is an enormous compliment for the Athenaeum InterContinental Athens" stated Mr. Panos Panayotopoulos, General Manager of the hotel. "We strongly believe that the driving force behind the hotel's success is our ability to consistently deliver the highest possible service standards whilst offering an environment of discreet luxury and comfort to all of our guests. Our goal is to ensure that the hotel continues to consistently deliver on its promise to its customers."
