

www.themercury.c Good Morning Dbn Pmb

Reeling in the hits

May 13 2008 Showing off our 2010 stadium PAGE 5

SPORT New dates for Comrades PAGE 20

X R4.80 inc VAT Subscribe and save. Call 880-6204.711 IN BUSINESS REPORT Black investors hit jackpot on MTN JSE Alsi 32 145 50 € 14.98 Dow Jones 12 876.31 € 11.84

Durban's

tops again

DURBAN'S International Convention Centre has regained the title of Africa's leading convention centre

chief executive Miller Matola heard the news at the first World Travel Awards Africa ceremony to be hosted on the continent, last night. The ceremony, which coincides with the Tourism Indaba being held at the ICC, was attended by 400 leaders of the tourism industry and opened by Zulu King Goodwill

The ICC won the title of Africa's leading convention centre for six years from 2001 to 2006, but, amid increasing national and continental competition, lost the title to the Cape Town International Conven-

The London-based World Travel

"It is an accolade we will carry

Awards aim to acknowledge and recognise excellence in the global proudly when hosting the many major international and local events at this centre," Matola said.

award, the Arabella Western Cape

Hotel & Spa with Africa's leading family resort and Club Travel

scooped Africa's leading travel

Other South African best-incontinent winners included OR

Tambo International Airport for Africa's leading airpor

Shamwari Game Reserve taking

Now SEE: PAGE 5

Africa's leading safari award.

agency award.

South African Airways was presented with Africa's leading airline travel and tourism industry.

tion Centre last year.

at the World Travel Awards. An ecstatic ICC team, led by

ICC is

SUREN NAIDOO

Zwelithini.

lospitals battle to recoup millions P2 -> Happy end to horrific ordeal P3 -> Headache for motorists P4 -> Houses-for-votes scandal continues P4 -> Problem? What problem? says MTN P5 -> Good news for Sharks P20

AMERICAN LAWSUIT GETS GO-AHEAD

Apartheid victims to sue

SAPA-AP & BABALO NDENZE

UNITED States lawsuit by local non-government organisations to get multina-Lional companies to pay up for profiting from apartheid which the South African government had tried to stop - is to go

Last night the Khulumani Support Group for apartheid victims claimed victory after the US Supreme Court ruled yesterday that it could not intervene in the dispute over the rights of apartheid victims to sue US corporations in US courts because four of the nine justices had to sit out the case over apparent conflicts.

The result is that the lawsuit accusing some prominent companies of violating international law by assisting South Africa's former apartheid government will go for-

Shirley Gunn, Western Cape spokeswoman for the the 55 000member Khulumani, said they were very happy about the developments. Last year the group denounced a decision by justice minister Brigitte Mabandla to oppose their lawsuit.

"It's great news. These companies really want this matter disposed of and they failed. It's our victory. But it will go back to the regional courts now so we will take it step by step," said Gunn.

Last year Archbishop Emeritus Desmond Tutu also made a "friend of the court" affidavit to the US court in support of the apartheid the 50-odd companies based in Europe, Canada and the US.

The court's hands were tied by federal laws that require at least six judges to hear any case before them.

Short of the required number by one, the court took the only path available to it and upheld an appeal court ruling allowing the suit to

The judges have ties to Bank of America, Bristol-Myers Squibb, Colgate-Palmolive, Credit Suisse, Exxon Mobil, Hewlett-Packard, IBM and Nestle, among nearly three dozen companies that asked the high court to step in.

The judges' latest financial disclosures show:

☐ Chief Justice John Roberts owned Hewlett-Packard stock.

□ Judge Stephen Breyer owned stock in Colgate-Palmolive, Bank of America, IBM and Nestle.

AN ARTICULATED truck and a tanker are engulfed in flames after colliding on Townhill, near Pietermaritzburg, yesterday. Netcare 911 spokesman Chris Botha said the vehicles were travelling east. towards Pietermanitzburg when they collided. One driver was killed and the other was treated for back injuries. Transport department spokesman Zinhle Mngomezulu said the road was closed for nearly 11 hours. In another incident, two cars caught alight after colliding on the M4 southbound carriageway near Jacobs yesterday. Both drivers were injured and were taken to hospital

☐ Judge Samuel Alito holds shares in Exxon Mobil, which caused him to sit out the still-pending dispute over the $2.5 billion (R19.4 billion) punitive damages award for the Exxon Valdez disaster. Alito also owns Bristol-Myers

☐ Judge Anthony Kennedy does not hold stock in any affected company, but his son, Gregory, is a managing director at Credit Suisse. He sat out a case last term involving the investment bank. Business groups, the Bush administration and the current South African government also sought the high court's intervention. They argued that the lawsuit was damaging international relations, threatening to hurt South Africa's economic development and punishing the companies using a fuzzy concept of aiding violations of international law.

Last year's ruling by the Second US Circuit Court of Appeals in New York "allows an unprecedented and sprawling lawsuit to move forward and represents a dramatic expansion of US law", the administration said in court papers.

Lawyers for the South Africans bringing the complaint said it was premature for the supreme court to get involved. The lawyers said they planned to narrow their complaint, perhaps omitting some corporations and showing more clearly how the companies had assisted the apartheid government.

One of Khulumani's lawyers, Charles Abrahams, said the matter would now be referred to the district

"Effectively the opinion of the Second US Circuit Court of Appeals (in New York) is the opinion that prevails. A hearing has been set for July 8 where it will be decided how (appeal court Judge John) Sprizzo will conduct the matter further."

said Abrahams. Abrahams said the South African government's submission could be re-argued or the court could take its own approach "or come up with its own order".

Hijackers arrested after

The case involves the Alien Tort Claims Act, an 18th-century law that allows foreigners to sue in US courts over international law violations. It was originally intended to allow foreigners to have a place to make claims against pirates, but the law has been increasingly used in the past 15 years to sue corporations for their alleged involvement in human rights abuses overseas.

The lawsuit raises sticky questions about US policy towards governments accused of repression. For example, the government may impose targeted sanctions while still allowing commerce in order to encourage reform. The suit could undermine that policy

More than 9 000 killed in earthquake in China

BEIJING: Transport and communication networks around China were thrown into chaos yesterday after a powerful earthquake struck the country's south-west, killing more than 9 000 people.

The 7.8-magnitude quake jolted Wenchuan, a mountainous region in Sichuan province, just before

The death toll in Sichuan alone reached 8 533, according to state-run

Xinhua news agency Thirty-one passenger trains and 149 cargo trains were stranded, the

A cargo train went off the rails and caught fire in a tunnel near Huixian County in north-western Gansu as the tunnel began to collapse, a spokesman for the ministry of railways said. One man was injured during the incident.

All trains to and from Chengdu, the capital of Sichuan, were ordered to stop. It was reported earlier that the city's airport had also been shut down while engineers assessed the Air China announced that all its flights to Chengdu had been diverted to other airports, and there were delays reported on planes travelling to neighbouring Chong-

A WOMAN crawls to safety from a collapsed building after a severe earthquake in China, yesterday ging, and Xian in the north. Chinese Premier Wen Jiabao called the earthquake a "major dis-

PICTURE REUTERS Police spokesman police officers saw three men pulling the in Beatrice Street. aster" and urgod calm. - Sapa-AFP police forced the car off the road at chase, shootout in suburbs

MERCURY REPORTER

A CAR chase and an exchange of gunfire preceded the arrest of two men believed to be responsible for a hijacking in central Durban last night.

PICTURE: NINEY BUTHNAM Muzi Mngomezulu said ONE of the suspected hijackers driver of a Toyota Tazzout of his car

The men fled when the police intervened and a chase ensued. The the corner of Kittymere and Windermere roads in Morningside, where the hijackers ran away

*One of the men fired at the police and they returned fire. Two of the men, one of whom was wounded, were arrested. The third managed to evade officers. He is still at large," Mngomezulu said.

He praised the quick action of the officers who gave chase

"Their reaction was instrumental in the arrests of the two men and the recovery of the stolen vehicle. They must be commended," he said. SURVIVOR TELLS OF ORDEAL: PAGE 3

1 in 2 people get a better deal! 1 in 2 people who call OUTsurance for a quote get a better deal. That means that 50% of you have a good chance of benefiting from our offering. At OUTsurance our affordable premiums, awesome service, low flat excess and free HELP@OUT emergency roadside and home assistance are what sets us apart from our competitors. Give us a call now on 08 600 60 000 and you could be

At this point you'd normally call your broker and shout Buy! Buy! Buy!

Success means making the right decisions at the right time. At prime less 4%, you won't find a more auspicious investment than the Mercedes-Benz E-Class - the world's most successful executive car. To capstalise on this limited offer, book a test drive today at 0800 1333 55. This offer is valid from the beginning of March to the end of June 2008, www.mercedes-benz.co.za

FULL STORY: PAGE 7

lealer of the Year 2005, 2006, 2007 & 2008

Monthly service fee applicable: R57 Initiation fee and Monthly service fee will apply. VAT inclusive. Mondatory insurance is escluded

Mercedes-Benz

Mercedes-Benz Umhlanga 1st: 031 576 1900 Mercedes-Benz Pinetown 1st: 031 717 1333 Mercedes-Benz Durban 1st: 031 336 4300